Industrial Heartland Attacked by Bombers

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

SAIGON (AP) — Warplanes from two U.S. aircraft carriers penetrated the missile envelope around North Vietnam's industrial heartland Friday to attack the Thai Nguyen thermal power plant 39 miles from Ha-noi.

It was the second big strike against the power plant, which is close to the vital Thai Nguyen steel plant. The steel plant has been bombed four times. Both targets were barred to U.S. pilots until early this month but have since been subjected to heavy bombing despite continuous bad weather over North Vietnam.

Pilots from the 85,000-ton nuclear-powered carrier Enterprise and the 76,000-ton Kitty Hawk streaked through the Thai Nguyen antiaircraft defenses under cover of the darkness before dawn. Flying A6 all-weather Intruders, they rained down 1,000-pound bombs aimed by radar and computers.

While one group of raiders was going after the Thai Nguyen plant, more Intruders from the two carriers winged 32 miles south of the Red Capital to blast an army barracks area at Chi Ne, where North Vietnamese troops may be staging to infiltrate the South.

The Thai Nguyen steel plant and power station are a significant segment of North Vietnam's industry. The steel plant, though incomplete, had been producing oil tanks and bridge sections. The power plant has been made on the effects of the electricity for the Hanoi-Haiphong area.

Both are well within the ring of sites for the Soviet-built surface to air missiles that comprise the "missile envelope" around the Hanoi-Haiphong area. U.S. pilots call this "Indian country."

Air Force spokesmen no longer say when U.S. planes run into missile attacks, but previous raids on the Thai Nguyen complex are known to have provoked a volley of the Red rocks.

However, no losses were announced for Friday's strikes. Although carrier Navy jets and Air Force planes from Thailand have now pasted the laian troops.

Heavy weather continued over the North Thursday, but pilots flew 30 missions. Most of their targets were road, rail and water supply points from the Hanoi area south to the 17th Parallel.

In South Vietnam, there was some scattered but sharp ground fighting, but the war generally slackened. It was not for lack of allied effort, however. Currently 18 ground operations are under way, involving U.S., South Korean and Australian forces.

According to an Associated Press dispatch from Saigon, the plane was operated by Air America, a charter firm employed by the U.S. mission in Vietnam and Laos. Also killed in the crash was the pilot.

The eight educators were in Vietnam to study problems of higher education.

The plane had left Saigon and was bound for Hue, 80 miles northwest of Da Nang and 390 miles north of the capital. The pilot landed at Da Nang because of the weather but decided to resume the flight, a spokesman said.

DILLON—Arms: Argent, a lion rampant between three crescents gules. Crest: A demi-lion rampant gules holding in its paws an estoile wavy or. Motto: "Dum spiro spero."

Well, here we go, making all of the Dillon family name mad. While Dillon may these days be considered 100 per cent Irish, the fact remains that they are not of Gaelic origin.

The first Dillon came to Ireland with Prince, later King John, in the Anglo-Norman invasion of Ireland in the 1100's. Well, that's long enough ago for a guy to get Irish. This was a Robert le Dillon, called by the Irish "Sashnagh," or "The Englishman" and he obtained large grants of land in Counties Longford and Westmeath. A great-grandson, Sir Henry Dillon founded the Abbey of St. Francis in Athlone in 1343.

The family has been prominent in Irish history and politics for some eight hundred years, give or take a fortnight. Some members of the Dillon family did the Wild Geese bit around the 1600's and migrated to France, where they were created Counts in 1711.

Smith says the name Dillon translates as "the spoiler," but who's going to believe that? Not a Dillon.

WORRY CLINIC

Marcia's case is duplicated in almost every physician's practice! So study it with care. And also use the medical booklet below on any childless wife whose failure to become pregnant is not due to anatomical obstacles.

CASE B-595: Marcia F., aged 33, is a neurotic wife.

"Dr. Crane," her worried husband began, "Marcia has lost 20 pounds and a nervous wreck.

"And it is all because we have never had any children.

"Doctors have told us we are medically O. K., but still Marcia does not get pregnant.

"So she has developed an inferiority complex and feels that life isn't worth living.

"What can I do to make her the happy, gay woman I married?"

Luckily, this couple were to adopt a baby girl a month later.

And the results were remarkable, for Marcia snapped out of her moody state.

She picked up in weight and regained her gay, happy outlook.

For her normal maternal nature responded to the demands of the new baby.

So many otherwise healthy couples remain childless because they miss this narrow time interval when pregnancy can occur.

Hunting and Fishing

Twenty timid Tinamou arrived here from Argentina last week. The rare spotted tinamou were imported by the Game, Fish and Parks Department to establish a breeding flock.

The new upland game bird will be introduced into the semi-arid habitat on the eastern plains of Colorado. Introduction of the tinamou is one portion of the game management plan of the department to provide more and diversified hunting opportunities for Colorado sportsmen.

Application blanks for 1967 specified and antlerless elk licenses will be available to big game hunters by April 1.

Blanks may be purchased from license agents, Game, Fish and Parks Department Regional Offices, or the department headquarters in Denver. Licenses will be available to hunters even though they were successful in the 1966 drawing.

All applications must be received by the department headquarters by 5:00 p.m., Monday, May 15. Group applications will be accepted but the group may apply for only cows or only bulls, not a mixture of both. Applications will be accepted as a group, providing they do not exceed available licenses for any area, if stapled together and accompanied with individual checks or money orders.

Following the public drawing June 9, remaining unsold elk licenses will go on sale at the Denver headquarters office until all areas are filled on a first-come, first-served basis.

Antelope, sheep and goat hunters will be able to pick up their license applications by June 26.

The deadline for receiving antelope applications will be 5:00 p.m. Monday, July 24. Sheep and goat applicants must meet an earlier deadline of July 14.

Hunters will not be eligible for 1967 sheep and goat licenses if they were successful in drawing a license for the 1966 season.

After public drawing, any remaining licenses will also be sold on a first-come basis.

Hunters will be allowed to designate a second choice area.

Things are looking up for the rod and reel clan. This season will see 13 million fish of various warm water species planted in Colorado waters.

Walleye pike will account for the major portion of the total, with some 9,745,000 fry and fingerlings to be planted. Bonny Reservoir and Sterling Reservoir will each get 2 million walleye fry. Horsetooth Reservoir is to get 1½ million and Boyd Reservoir will receive 1 million.

Close to a million northern pike will be planted in 1967 with Boyd Reservoir getting half a million of the fry sized fish.

Channel catfish will be planted in Queens Reservoir, Adobe Creek, Boyd and Horsetooth Reservoirs, and Berkeley Lake in Denver. These waters will receive almost a million catfish with nearly 80,000 in the 8-10 inch range.

Other warm water species to be planted this year include: 250,000 small-mouth bass; 295,000 bluegills; 126,000 black crappie; 105,000 large-mouth bass; 100,000 ring perch; 6,000 green sunfish; 1,000 shad; 700,000 minnows; 3,800 assorted varieties to be stocked in kids ponds; and 11,000 carp of which I am emphatically opposed.

The warm water stocking program is intended to show a healthy balance between predator fish and forage fish, assuring natural balance in the warmer waters of the state.

Small-mouth bass, bluegill, crappie, walleye pike, largemouth bass, channel catfish, northern pike, perch and sunfish are all hardy and fighting species. They provide unlimited sport for the young "Huck Fin" with cane pole to the seasoned man of means who wouldn't think of casting one of 75 plugs without first checking the water temperature.

For shooters planning their vacations, the following is a list of spring, summer and fall major shooting events for 1967 as compiled by the National Shooting Sports Foundation in Riverside, Connecticut.

May 18-21 —National spring shoot of the National Muzzle Loading Rifle Association at Friendship, Indiana. Target competition includes both rifle and pistol, black powder muzzle loaders.

June 14-16 —National Police Championships at the University of Indiana outdoor police range, Bloomington, Indiana. Competition is limited to law enforcement officers for pistol and revolver.

and worms have produced some results.

Burlington Reservoir, John Martin Reservoir, Blue Lake, Hasty Lake, Ordway Reservoir, have produced no results worthy of mention.

Holbrook Lake, Lake Isabel and Martin Lake near Walsenburg have been showing fair to good catches of rainbow. Salmon eggs are the best producer again. Success on spinners is reported, however, at Martin Lake.

Clear Creek Reservoir which was recently stocked with 4500 rainbow has some open water on the extreme southwest end, but gave no results Sunday to lures, salmon eggs or worms.

High beaver ponds are not good potential for brook trout as of yet. They are moving in quite a docile fashion and follow spinners but seem to have no desire to strike. Worms got only an occasional mouthing to be spit out as if uninterested.

The cautious little fish will soon be overcome by their ravenous appetites as they get thawed out and start burning some of that dormant energy.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Eight persons died today when a station wagon carrying 15 passengers collided with a car on San Antonio's South Side.

Eight other persons were injured. Doctors said several might not live.

Officers reported the occupants of the station wagon were en route home from a church meeting.

Police said the car, driven by Genodev Villareal, 28, of San Antonio, veered onto the wrong side of a four-lane highway. He was among those killed.

Robert B. Green Hospital listed these other dead: Pete de La Cruz of Pleasanton and his wife Bertha, Mr. and Mrs. Pablo Jimenez of Carrizo Springs and their son Paul, 12.

Two other dead remained to be identified at Santa Rosa Medical Center.

Alex de La Cruz, 10, son of the Pleasanton couple, underwent surgery at Green hospital for multiple injuries. His brother Richard, 11, and sister Becky, 7, suffered less serious injuries.

There were five other injured persons at Santa Rosa. Attendants reported two were in grave condition.

Police Ordered To Halt Strife In Milk Strike

and dumping action. Farm leaders close to the administration said Freeman fears action against imports now might make it appear he was acting under pressure from the NFO.

The stepped-up police patrols in the farm areas of Warren, Hunterdon and Sussex Counties in northwestern New Jersey were ordered by Col. David B. Kelly, superintendent of State Police, after a young dairy farmer was shot in the hip by a special policeman, and a milk truck was hijacked and its cargo dumped.

"We're cognizant of the situation and we're taking steps to see that it doesn't happen again," said Kelly.

State Police said William Quirk, 19, a farmer, was shot Thursday by the special police officer after he and two other men attempted to pour kerosene into an empty milk tanker truck in Knowlton Township, Warren County, about 40 miles north of Trenton.

A few hours later, a tractor-trailer containing 700 cases of milk was hijacked on Route 202 in Flemington and wrecked.

Elsewhere in New Jersey, a mass milk dumping was canceled in Franklin Township after local authorities objected. There were dumpings reported, however, on farms in Warren County.

Wisconsin NFO director Johnson said considerable progress has been made in the campaign to drive up prices.

Johnson indicated that meetings with processors were in progress in other states, too. He said discussions with Wisconsin milk processors began last Monday, but he declined to say where they were being held.

Staley in claiming the NFO action had spread to two new states, said: "We've already moved into Massachusetts and the first meeting in Maine will be tomorrow night."

He said there has been no decision on requests for NFO organization in Louisiana and Connecticut.

In Pennsylvania a state official apologized to nonfarmers for what he described as "roughhouse" tactics by NFO members.

J. Lin Huber, chairman of the Pennsylvania Milk Control Commission, told an audience in Robesonia, Pa., that milk dumping is not justified under any conditions "with millions of people in the world starving."

"If all of this — such as the report of arsenic being poured into a tank truck — is being done to get the consumers' attention," he said, "then it is unfair to scare the consumer half to death. I can't see where this roughhouse stuff will help anybody."

Interstate Gas Plans to Spend $25.2 Million rose by more than $11.1 million to more than $155.5 million. Pipeline operations were responsible for $3 million of the increase and petroleum, manufacturing and chemical activities for the balance.

"This continuing and increasing important contribution of the company's diversification program," the report said, "is most evident in these results as the pattern established in 1965 continued in 1966."

"Petroleum, manufacturing and chemical operations contributed more than one-half of the company's total operating revenues and of net income to common stock."

CIG directors in February increased the quarterly dividend on common stock to 40 cents per share from 35 cents, the fourth increase in seven years.

Thieves Get $650 Worth of Old Coins

Leonard Leon Campbell, Pikes Peak Coins, 25 E. Bijou St., told police Wednesday that thieves had taken approximately $650 worth of valuable coins and pieces of currency from his shop sometime Wednesday evening.

Officers said the intruders apparently gained entry to the firm by way of a transom over the door. They said wires to a burglar alarm had been cut by the burglar.

RETURN OF ADAM

House Democratic leaders are expecting Adam Clayton Powell to return to the chamber, and are preparing for that.

If the House votes to seat the Harlem Democrat after he is returned in the April 11 special election, he will again be assigned to the Labor & Education Committee, which he formerly headed — despite the fact that there now is no vacancy on it.

Powell will be put at the bottom of the list, and thus lose all his one-time seniority. But he will be returned to the committee, if House Democratic leaders have their way.

Following is the story on this secret plan:

The decision to keep a committee place open for Powell was made at a series of conferences with White House officials.

At these meetings it was agreed that Democratic Floor Leader Carl Albert, Okla., would be temporarily shifted from the Defense and State Departments. Central Intelligence Agency and refugee organizations in South Vietnam.

The results of this survey are being kept under wraps by the Kennedys, but they have dropped hints of their findings in recent speeches.

DEAD END

"We are terribly close to the point where our military actions threaten to work against him. Albert would give up his goals we seek," Edward Kennedy, newly-acquired Labor & Education Committee place and relevance. "What can only follow now is a prolonged war resulting in & Astronautics Committee.

By this maneuver Democratic leaders blocked other Democratic members from possibly seeking the vacancy and kept the door open so that Powell could again be put on the committee if the House relents and seats him. Albert would give up his newly-acquired Labor & Education Committee place and revert to his seat on the Science & Astronautics Committee.

"In this clash both sides are the door open so that Powell could again be put on the committee if the House relents and seats him. Albert would give up his newly-acquired Labor & Education Committee place and revert to his seat on the Science & Astronautics Committee.

"Let us not omit our own costs from the war's account," he declared. "This price is especially high among the civilians in South Vietnam. . . . Peace will depend on the strength of the nation we leave behind."

In their coming speeches the Kennedys will cite figures to show that civilian casualties in South Vietnam have soared as the ground and air war has intensified. The number of women and children treated for war injuries and the homeless and orphans will be highlighted.

In gathering data on civilian casualties in North Vietnam Senator Robert Kennedy has held a series of meetings with Americans who have visited Hanoi in recent months.

These included a session in his New York apartment with Staughton Lynn, Yale professor, and Thomas Hayden, a neighborhood organizer in New Jersey, who have just published a book strongly sympathetic to the Viet Cong.

President Johnson has been forewarned of the coming Kennedy blasts. In inner administration quarters, his recent stern strictures against Vietnam critics are attributed to this.

"I think," the President said at his last White House press conference, "the American people should know that this is a bipartisan group of 38 senators who have joined Senator James Pearson, R-Kan., in pressing legislation for a broad study of efficiency in government agencies. The Pearson measure would set up a body patterned after the Hoover Commission on the truth-in-lending bill. The deadlock between its foremost advocate, former Senator Paul Douglas, D-Ill., and its leading opponent, former Senator A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., no longer prevails. Both were defeated last year. Two of the committee's newest members — Senators Edward Brooke, R-Mass., and Charles Percy, R-Ill. — have indicated they favor the legislation. Senator William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of a subcommittee, who has reintroduced the bill, plans to hold hearings in April.

stricter. Everyone's disappointed."

"Terrible," said Jim Tarsok, 22, a nonstudent from Toledo, Ohio. "Beer and a blanket are great icebreakers. Just look how everybody is standing around kicking at the sand."

Ogilvie conceded that there were several minus-factors regarding the modifications:

— Elimination of the four or five smaller plants and 30 miles of power canal.

— Possible reduction in number of construction employees, unless more men will be required in building two larger plants.

— Provide less storage capacity at Twin Lakes and Pueblo — Provides less surface area and shoreline for recreation.

But the project director said the "application of a well-accepted concept of power production."

In the original plan the Elbert powerplant would have been located on Twin Lakes Reservoir and would have used water from Turquoise Lake transport via the Elbert Canal. From Twin Lakes, water would have flowed through the Otero Canal and powerplant into Clear Creek Reservoir.

The post-authorization plan now calls for a re-located Elbert Canal, development of peaking power at the Elbert site at Twin Lakes, and the Otero Canal and powerplant below Twin Lakes.

Ogilvie said the studies were spurred toward finding a scale and type of power development that would be within the cost ceiling ($241,677,000), meet the criteria of repayment within the prescribed 50-year period and be marketable.

The peaking power installation at the Elbert site was evaluated at two sizes — 111 and 200 megawatts of capacity, finally centering on the former with provisions to modify necessary facilities for addition of a second unit at a later date.

The analysis, said Ogilvie, indicated that the preparatory work necessary for the future addition of a second 111-megawatt unit would cost $5,585,000 and would increase the project cost to the aforementioned

$203,587,000. This is within the authorized appropriation limitation, he said.

An additional $14,707,000 would be required to install the second unit later. The total cost of the additional 111-megawatt unit thus would be $20,292,000.

If provisions for expansion are not included now, the total cost for later addition would be $26 million.

Payout analyses indicated that the surplus would be about the same as for the 200-megawatt plan, but if the second unit was never added, the cost of the additional features could still be repaid within the required time limit, said Ogilvie.

It was clearly pointed out that the plan change would not reduce annual water deliveries for supplemental irrigation and municipal and industrial uses.

The reimbursable interest

during construction, said Ogilvie, amounts to $4,234,000 thus involving a total project investment of $207,821,000.

Ogilvie also outlined the e

project repayment factors:

Water sales — $21.9 million; power revenue — $61.7 million;

Municipal and Industrial Revenue — $26.2 million; and tax revenue — $48.5 million. Nonreimbursable items include:

flood control — $21.9 million;

fish and wildlife — $22.6 million; recreation — $3,042,000;

and Public Law 87-874 obligations — $1,269,000. All these figures balance out with the total cost estimate of the project or

Another Soviet Fishing Vessel Violates Right

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — A cutter Storis to port so the vessel was taken under tow. If the vessel changes his mind and proceeds under his own power, the vessels could arrive by late afternoon. The tow would take nearly two days.

Capt. Robert Emerson, commander of the Coast Guard station at Kodiak, said the Soviet skipper refused to follow a Coast Guard cutter.

The 178-foot trawler, SRTM 8-457, was boarded south of the Shumagin Islands Wednesday after a Coast Guard aircraft had engaged in "hot pursuit" of the vessel for 10 miles.

The Coast Guard said the aircraft, on routine law-enforcement patrol, spotted the trawler fishing 5.5 miles east of Seal Cape in the Shumagins, a violation of the U.S. 12-mile exclusive fisheries zone which went into effect March 17.

The aircraft signaled the ship to heave-to and await arrival of a government ship. Instead, the trawler picked up her fishing gear and headed toward international waters. The Storis overtook the ship 15 miles off shore.

The scene was about 100 miles southwest of the spot the Soviet trawler SRTM 8-413 was seized March 2 for violation of the three-mile territorial limit at Mitrofan Island, some 40 miles southwest of Chignik on the Alaska Peninsula.

Nicolai G. Zernov, skipper of that vessel, was fined $5,000, an amount Alaska Gov. Walter J. Hickel called "measly."

The latest incident, Gov. Hickel said, is strictly a federal problem because the Soviet ship was not accused of violating the three-mile territorial limit.

"I would hope, however, that the federal government will impose the maximum penalty allowable because obviously a fine of only $5,000 isn't going to deter the Russians from future violations," the governor said.

The maximum penalty would be a $10,000 fine and one year in prison for each person aboard. Soviet trawlers usually carry a crew of 25-30. The vessel is also subject to seizure, forfeiture of cargo and any fish taken in violation of law.

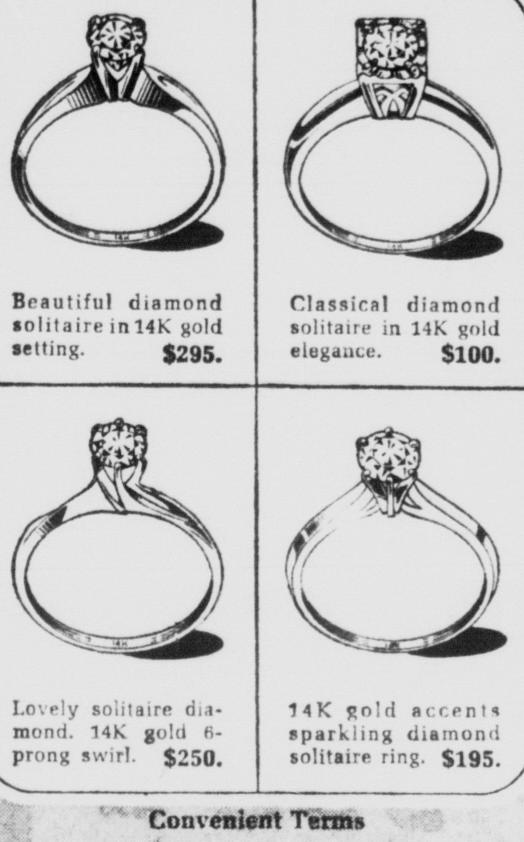

"I will urge the federal government to take the strongest action possible," Gov. Hickel said, "and I think a statement from the Russian ambassador on whether the Soviets are going to observe the 12-mile exclusive fisheries zone would be apropos."

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said the Soviet Embassy had been notified.

By TED LEWIS

WASHINGTON — It's nice to know that President Johnson and Ho Chi Minh have written to each other.

Outside of that belated disclosure concerning their correspondence of six or eight weeks ago, what is so all-fired important about their personal exchange of views?

The texts of their two letters don't add two cents' worth to what has been known right along. Ho won't stop infiltrating even if we stop bombing, and we won't stop bombing until Hanoi stops infiltrating. What's new about that? And for that matter the correspondence doesn't even, as we study it, put a damper on the dove element at home, except to emphasize Johnson's constant search for peace, which was pretty well known for a long time.

Bobby Kennedy, for example, can still insist that if we halt the bombing, without demanding some concessions in return, there is at least an outside chance that Hanoi might be willing to negotiate. Now if all those conclusions are as valid as they seem to be, there doesn't appear to be much left to get into a compromise about. But this objective estimate overlooks the almost frenzied, hysterical reaction in the State Department.

The release through Tokyo of Ho's tart, bitter, thumbs-down reply to LBJ's peace-talk feeler obviously posed a problem for our foreign policy hands, especially since LBJ and Secretary of State Rusk then were flying home from Guam.

So they had to be contacted, in midair so to speak, before Johnson's letter to Hanoi could be released here, clarifying the situation. Obviously what Ho wrote to LBJ wouldn't mean much, except in its propaganda effects, unless it was known what LBJ wrote first.

It might be asked why the Administration took so long to reveal all this high-level letter writing. The answer is easy. A correspondence arrangement had been at long last devised. There could be more exchanges if the first was kept private.

Johnson, in his letter to Ho, emphasized that in all the preliminaries to a search for truce

It does seem, in retrospect, that the President could have revealed on a most confidential basis, to some of his Viet war critics whom he could trust, the positive "no-peace" stand of the Hanoi government in mid-February. If he had done so, much of the agitation of the last few weeks would not have developed.

Instead, as in his March 9 press conference, he left the impression that he was still hopeful of getting Hanoi to accept his terms — a bombing halt coincidental with an infiltration halt — while all the time he knew from what Ho had written in mid-February that Hanoi was unyielding.

But he allowed the critics to charge that he didn't even want negotiations at this time, that he smelled victory in the war, rather than negotiations, and so would keep on accelerating hostilities.

His restraint in discussing his critics, like Bobby Kennedy and Arthur Schlesinger, was, in retrospect, most unusual. He softly surmised that he had more information about the situation than they had. That was a real understatement — he had that letter from Ho that gave his peace-talk proposal a brutal slapdown.

Now that the correspondence has been made public, it becomes clear that, for more than a month, the President has had no alternative but acceleration of bombing. But for some strange reason, both before and during the Guam conference, he had been trying to de-emphasize that and emphasize pacification efforts in South Vietnam.

BOSTON (AP) — The small, two-engine plane came in for a perfect landing Thursday at Logan International Airport, except for one thing.

The wheels weren't down. When the plane skidded to stop after the belly landing, airport officials rushed to it and asked the pilot, Manning Jobbs, 40, of Auburn, Maine, what had happened.

"I just forgot to lower the gear," he explained.

German Warehouse Destroyed by Fire

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — A large warehouse at the nearby U.S. Rhein-Main Air Base was destroyed during the night by a fire that caused an estimated $900,000 damage, the Air Force reported today.

Hundreds of Air Force and German firemen fought for three hours to bring the flames under control. They confined the fire to the one building a mile from the bases' main runway.

One German fireman was severely injured. A number of others suffered from smoke inhalation, bruises and sprains, an Air Force spokesman said.

The warehouse contained furniture, linens and other household goods of military families, a laundry, garage and automobile spare parts shop.

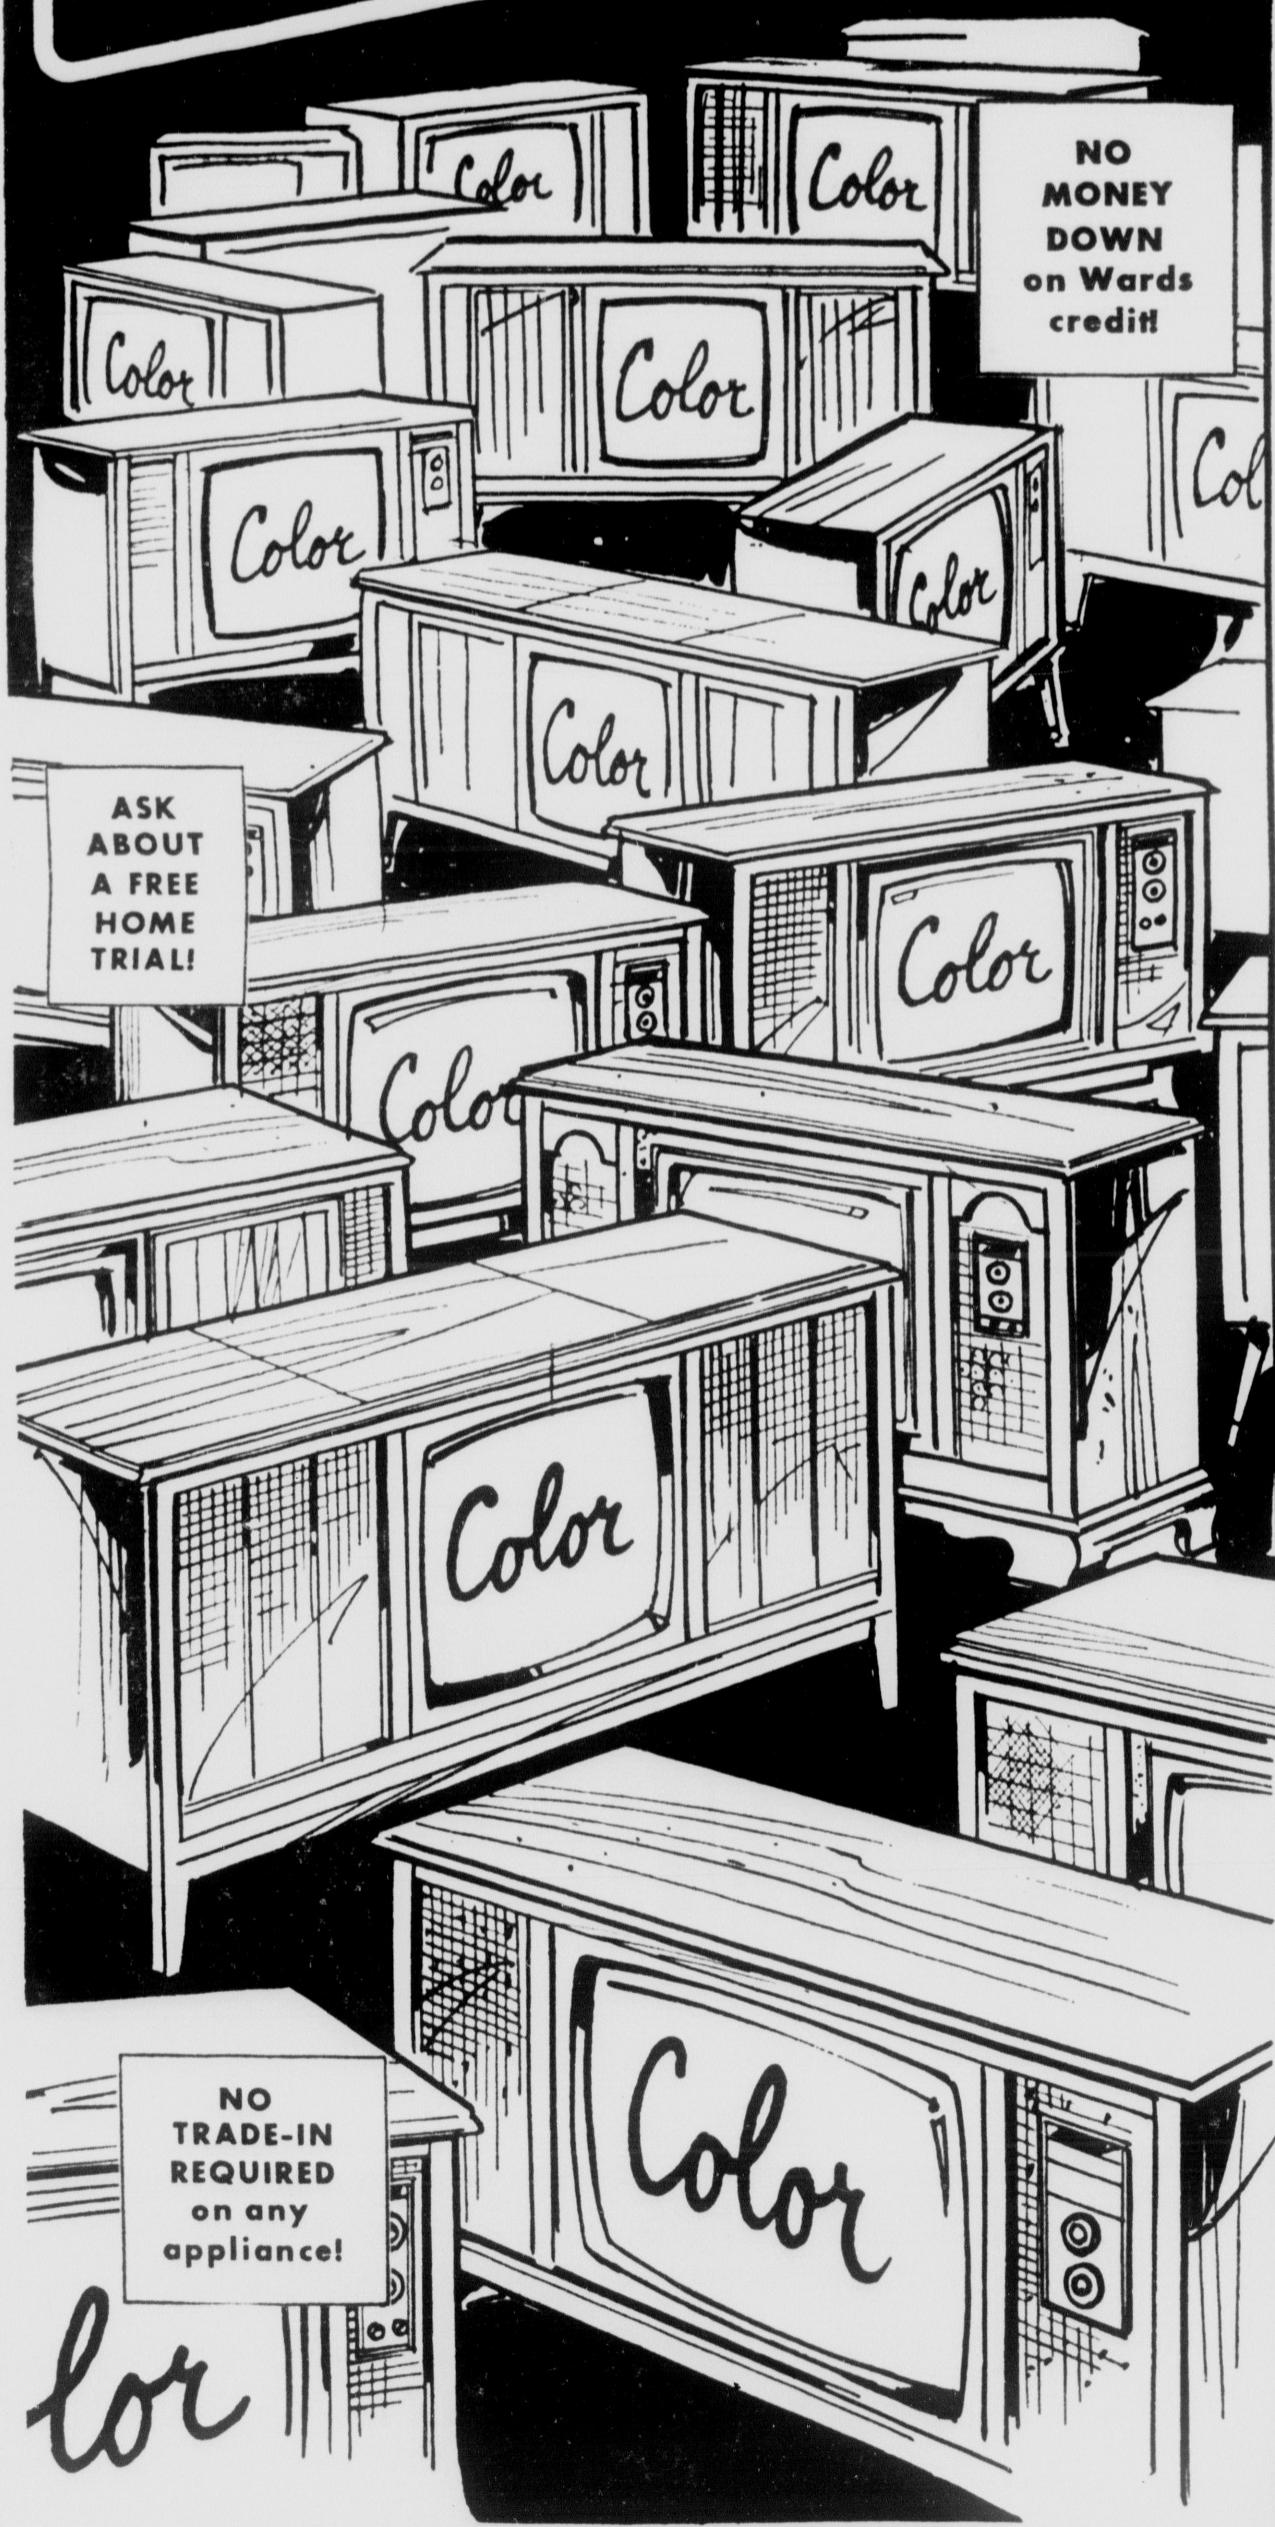

Five automobiles were destroyed.

An investigation was opened.

Reckless Count Brings $75 Fine

Spotting a car straddling the white jump line down a Colorado Springs street, Patrolman Steve Miranda took chase. Testifying in Municipal Court Thursday, Miranda said that the car was going from one side of the street to the other.

When he later stopped the vehicle, Miranda said that the driver, Joe Quintana, had trouble walking and had obviously been drinking. The officer said that in his opinion Quintana was on the borderline of being drunk when he was driving.

Quintana, 44, Capri Motel, was found guilty of reckless driving and was fined $75.

Carl Williams Scott, 22, Ft. Carson, was found guilty of a careless driving charge which involved the use of alcohol. He was fined $25.

Fines of $15 were assessed Ralph Archuleta, 27, 612 W. Madison St., careless driving, and Owen J. Carroll, 18, 1819 N. Tejon St., careless driving. Those fined $10 were:

Larry Gerber, 17, 615 Hill Top Dr., traffic signal violation; Maryel Salin, 63, 1318 E. Platte Ave., speeding; and Thomas Trumbull, 20, Ft. Carson, careless driving.

Attorney Claims Prejudice; Judge Refuses to Disqualify Himself

County Court Judge Robert Cole refused to disqualify himself Thursday on grounds of prejudice in a traffic case which was being defended by attorney Ben Fann.

Fann argued that Cole would be prejudiced as a few weeks ago he told the lawyer in open court that in future if any of his clients were found guilty of traffic violations they would receive a jail sentence.

Fann was referring to the case of Betty Jane Gilbert which was heard on Feb. 14. The defendant was found guilty of passing on the wrong side and the lawyer told the court at the time that he would appeal the verdict.

Quoting from the transcript of the case Fann read aloud:

"Are you really going to appeal this?"

"Yes, I am your honor."

"Very well Mr. Fann. I'll keep this in mind next time you lose a case it will be a jail sentence."

Putting down the transcript, Fann reminded the court that this was repeated several times by Cole. Then Cole asked what connection the Betty Jane Gilbert case had with the present one, concerning James Burrus III, 1501 W. Cheyenne Blvd., charged with driving at 70 miles per hour in a 60 zone.

Fann replied that the connection was that his client Burrus might go to jail were he found guilty.

The judge replied that what transpired between the court and counsel in other transactions had no bearing on the present matter and then denied the motion.

Fann then requested that he might withdraw from the case for his client had indicated to him that he was scared he would be put in jail if he was found guilty before Cole. Defendant Burrus also requested that Fann could withdraw but Cole would not permit it. Fann was retained at the expense of the defendant and not the court.

Summing up Cole said he felt neither defendants nor attorneys had any right to choose which judge they appeared before and testimony in the case started at 3:45 p.m.

Two hours later the jury found the defendant innocent.

Mrs. Evans Recounts Life With Congress

A written report from Mrs. Eleanor Evans, wife of U.S. Rep. Frank E. Evans was given to the El Paso County Democratic Women's Club by Mrs. Gerald Jones.

"My thoughts on our life here center on the marked contrast between February, 1965 and February, 1967, and are related completely from my own vantage point. If this were to be given a title, I would call it 'a more experienced beginning,' in reference to the beginning session of the 90th Congress, and the fact that it is our second term. The contrast is apparent: in terms of family stability, in the extent to which we feel familiar with the thoughts and problems of each of our children. Two years ago when each of the six of us were beginning new lives in new situations, following ten months of sporadic and frequent separations, I remember feeling that it would take months to become re-acquainted with the indepth daily lives of our children. In our living conditions we enjoy a 'settled' feeling in relation to the house we're in — no packing boxes, a willingness to replace a couple of bare light bulbs in the basement with light fixtures. In my husband's grasp of his job there is an easy competency with emphasis on developing and expanding his role as Third District Congressman, compared to a somewhat frenetic urgency two years ago to learn the role.

"In our friendships compared to two years ago, when we could count the number of people we knew in Washington on our fingers we have an easy and warm relationship with many congressional couples, a small but growing number of administrative couples, several cabinet people, and a terrific contingent of former Coloradans. A number of these we have entertained in our home.

"Our children still prefer Colorado to Washington (we all think Colorado is the greatest); however, the routine of their lives is little different here than at home. Only the setting is different, and the sightseeing destinations. There is an excitement to living in the nation's capitol that is, of course, unique in what I hear.

"During free evenings at home there is greater exploration of issues, increased discussion on developing district projects, office effectiveness, Armed Service committee responsibilities, as compared to earlier spontaneous flow of dialogue relating to the events of the day. I still mostly listen, but there is a great difference in what I hear.

"In our response to social events we attend fewer events as a couple. The presence of my husband, as congressman, is what is required and/or desired by many events; this leaves me freer to attend to Washington, and which touch family needs. Also, those at all of our lives."

North has an ace and two kings and is interested in getting to a slam the moment he bears South's two club opening but he has no convenient positive response. He has no suit to bid and no reason to want to be declarer at a no-trump contract. North's best bet is to mark time by responding with two diamonds.

When South rebids two notrump to show 23 or 24 high card points and a no-trump hand, North had no further problem.

Poor West has to lead against the no-trump slam and will probably pick the eight of clubs. This will spoil any chance for East to get any value out of his jack of clubs but it is definitely West's best lead.

South will still have plenty of problems but his best play will be to start by winning the club in his hand, cashing dummy's ace and king of that suit, leading a spade to his king, cashing his last club and then playing out his ace and jack of spades.

West will be in with the queen and have to lead away from one of his red queens. Either lead will give declarer his twelfth trick.

Of course, South had plenty of other lines of play at his disposal but this one is most logical. The important thing to note is that if North were declarer at six no-trump and East were to open anything but a club, North would probably go down.

Keep Mud Outdoors

The spring muddy season will soon be inundating homes with tiny wet foot steps all over the floors.

As in any invasion, offensive action is more successful than defensive. With proper pre-battle planning, the fight can often be avoided completely.

Plan of attack-provisions at each door used by the children. Essential supplies — a place for muddy boots and rubber and easily accessible hooks for hanging up coats and jackets.

If children are allowed to enter the house by only one or two doors — such as into the kitchen or from the garage — a floor surface in these areas of vinyl asbestos tile will be most practical. Tile needs only a wipe with a damp mop to regain its appearance and top condition.

A box for boots and rubber should be large enough to allow good drainage. For best results, a platform with holes in it set above a removable tray will prove most satisfactory. The tray can then be taken out and washed when necessary.

A mat outside the door, if the children are taught to use it, will absorb some of the dirt before it is brought into the house.

West will be in with the queen and have to lead away from one of his red queens. Either lead will give declarer his twelfth trick.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

When you make a gelatin salad or dessert, line your mold with one of the new plastic wraps. Then there's no need to melt half the salad when you run the container under the hot water faucet.

Potted Shrimp

1/2 cup sautéed or other white dinner wine
1/4 cup salad oil
2 tablespoons garlic-flavored wine vinegar

1/2 teaspoon seasoned salt
1/4 teaspoon dried dill
2 drops Tabasco
3 cups cooked shrimp

Shake in covered jar or beat together with rotary beater the wine, oil, vinegar and seasonings. Pour over shrimp; stir to mix. Cover and refrigerate overnight. Drain and serve sprinkled with parsley or green onion, if desired. Makes 3 cups.

Sole in Mousseline Sauce

6 fillets of sole
Salt and pepper

1/2 cup sautéed or other white dinner wine

3 egg yolks
1/2 cup butter

Dash cayenne
1/4 cup whipping cream

Soak sole with salt and pepper and roll each fillet. Heat wine in skillet with a dash salt. Add sole rolls, cover and poach about 5 minutes, until fish is opaque. Remove sole to baking dish. Boil down wine to 2 tablespoons, and strain into blender.

Add egg yolks, a dash salt and cayenne, and blend a few seconds. Heat butter until foaming hot. Turn on and cool slightly. Whip cream stiff and fold into cooled sauce. Spoon over poached fillets. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) about 10 minutes, until thoroughly heated.

NOTE: To prepare sauce without a blender, combine egg yolks, reduced wine, salt and cayenne in small saucépan, and cook over warm, not hot, water, stirring constantly until slightly thickened. Melt butter and beat in a few drops at a time, beating constantly with a wire whisk. Six servings.

United Press International

Already the fashion industry is talking fall. Next season will be a banner year for the browns, reports the American Wool Council. Browns will show in sportswear, coats and suits, with the range from bright copper, toast and rust, on to bitter chocolate.

Men's sports jackets go on a color binge for spring. You'll see them in double-breasted versions in every shade from gold to scarlet, with many that are patterned, reports Gentlemen's Quarterly. Typical — a sports coat in orange with a black and burgundy check, or an olive, blue and tan plaid.

Enamel used to be for kit-chens. Now it's for jewelry, with its bright surfaces used for earrings, bracelets, pins and pendants. They come in bold colors, pastels, and white.

Paper Napkins Play New Role

Paper napkins, which once were thought suitable only for picnics, have moved higher on the social ladder than even their makers realized, research has shown.

Not only are they used with the "best" china and silver on candlelit dinner tables, but they are frequently selected in colors that complement the china or a floral centerpiece.

After choosing the napkins women will very frequently purchase candles for dinner table use in colors to match or contrast the color of the napkins.

Women want a wide variety of patterns and colors, which has led Hallmark to offer more than 50 designs and 11 solid decora-

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Letter for Teen-Agers

DEAR ABBY: I am in the United States Navy. I love the service, but most of all, I love my parents. Before I came into the service I felt I knew just about everything. I was sure my parents no longer needed me, and all I could think of was the day I would be "on my own."

The first time I realized how much my parents cared was the day they took me to the train depot to see me off. When my father said good-by to me, he broke down and cried. I had never seen my father cry before, and I won't forget it as long as I live. I have had a lot of time to think. I never told my father I loved him, and I gave both my parents a hard time when they tried to guide me for my own good.

Now I write home every chance I get, and I am trying to make up for all the heartaches I must have caused them, and for my failure to be a better son. When my next leave comes up I am going home and get acquainted with my wonderful parents. I have written this letter in hopes that other thoughtless teen-agers will wake up before it's too late. Thanks, Abby, for letting me get this off my chest. — D. D. H., SAN DIEGO

DEAR ABBY: I have nine grandchildren. I send each one a check for five dollars on his birthday, as well as at Christmas. I am distressed. One mother signs her children's checks, cashes them, and keeps the money herself. The children do not even know that I have sent them a gift.

Very soon a birthday is due. I love these children, my social security is small, but I still want to send these children money. How can I prevent the mother from grabbing it? The children are junior and high school students. — GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: If you can give the children the CASH, personally, do so. If you must mail your gift, conceal the five-dollar bill in a card, and ask each child to let you know how he has spent his money. The mother obviously cannot be trusted. So don't trust her.

Unique in many respects, the Youngsters Can Outgrow Toys Like Clothes

Just as a spring wardrobe replaces his outgrown winter clothing, the pre-schooler needs a new wardrobe of toys with his new "seasons" of growth. By now, the toys your child received last Christmas are probably "too small" for him — no longer challenging or interesting.

After all, he is several months older and it is during these preschool years that he grows faster, learns more, encounters more new experiences, and solves more problems than at any other period of his lifetime. His toys are his tools and "textbooks" of learning.

The pre-schooler discovers his world through play, and he does so in giant steps. It's no surprise that he outgrows his toys just as he does his shirts and shoes. When his wrist hangs well below his shirt cuff, he will still keep growing. But when his imagination is no longer stimulated by his playtools, his intellectual growth may not keep pace with his physical growth. His rapidly growing skills require new and challenging play tools. A few new toys every month or two are better than many toys only once or twice a year at Christmas and birthdays.

Along with toys that "fit," your child needs a creative environment for play, according to research. You can help by providing these things:

— Opportunity to play, to learn, and discover at his own pace, in whatever directions of interest that his imagination and curiosity take him, within the limits of safety.

— Opportunity to make mistakes — to build, to tear down, to explore, to experiment, to test, without criticism.

— Parental acceptance, appreciation, and encouragement of his efforts.

— Option to play alone or with others.

— Room to play where he is free to exercise his beginning skills and to play safely without restriction.

— Adult guidance only when it is sought by the child. Ideally, it is guidance by indirect instruction which simply points the way for a child to use his own imagination, intelligence, and skills in finding answers.

For additional information about a creative environment for play and how to select play-tools for the fast-growing preschooler write for "Playtools to Shape a Child's World" from Playskool Research, Box 3342, Chicago, Ill. 60654.

To save yourself time, temper and the bother of having to search through boxes and packages of stored things, tag each box or package that is stored. Make the tags as you store, and write plainly in ink a description of each container's contents, so you will be able to tell at a glance if the article you are seeking is in that particular box. Written in ink, you can see it plainer, and it will not rub off.

3/4 cup water

3 ounces semisweet chocolate

1 teaspoon butter

Boil sugar and water in aluminum saucepan about 15 minutes, or until syrup spins a fine thread when dripped from a silver spoon. While sugar is boiling, melt chocolate and stir in butter. Pour sugar syrup, a little at a time, into melted chocolate, stirring continually until icing is smooth. Use immediately. (For one 8 - inch cake or 10 - inch Sachertorte. This recipe is from "The Art of Viennese Cooking" by Marcia Colman Morton (Doubleday) and is reprinted by permission of the publisher)

Here is a simple, inexpensive way to brighten up tarnished silverware. Save the water in which potatoes were boiled and soak the tarnished silverware in it for an hour. Wash and dry in the usual way.

North Vietnam Says Letter Had to Be Told

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam said today its release of U.S. ruling circles" have urged Johnson to stop unconditionally the bombings of North Vietnam. VNA said these individuals "also pointed out that Johnson's letter proved that the U.S. government has put more conditions to the Vietnamese people in exchange for the cessation of the bombing in North Vietnam."

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y. said Tuesday Johnson's letter disclosed he now required evidence that North Vietnamese infiltration is halted before U.S. bombings against North Vietnam are ended.

In another dispatch, VNA said the conference in Guam showed the "acute inner contradictions" among U.S. officials over Vietnam.

Disclosure of the letters, VNA said, was "intended to demonstrate once again the correct stand and the fair and responsible attitude of the democratic republic of Vietnam government and the Vietnamese people's determination to (keep) fighting Red China accused the Soviet Union today of selling out Vietnam's Communists and held the

Actual Independence Proposed by Group

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. special committee on colonialism has decided that six British Caribbean territories granted associated statehood are not actually independent and suggested that a U.N. mission visit them.

Antigua, Dominica, Grenada, St. Lucia and St. Kitts - Nevis-Anguilla are already associated states and St. Vincent will become one by June. Each is self-governing but leaves its defense and foreign relations to Britain. The U.N. committee voted 18-3 Thursday for a resolution saying the General Assembly's declaration against colonialism still applied to the territories. Britain, the United States and Australia were opposed, and Finland, Italy and Uruguay abstained.

The resolution gave an opening to questioning of the status of Puerto Rico, which was removed from the U.N.'s list of non-self-governing areas years ago when it became a commonwealth associated with the United States.

The Purdue University Student Health Center treats nearly 4,800 students each month.

Cougars May Stall UCLA

Stuff Shot, If Leading

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — "Yes, the stuff shot is a very high percentage shot."

Statements like that made Houston basketball Coach Guy Lewis the hit of an afternoon news conference Thursday, shortly after his Cougars arrived for the NCAA national championship tournament. But Lewis, along with All-America Elvin (Big E) Hayes and the rest of the Cougars, face a very unfunny situation tonight when they meet unbeaten UCLA in the second game of the opening round.

Unranked Dayton and North Carolina play in the first game for a berth in the finals Saturday night.

"We teach the stuff shot," Lewis said. "We've had as many as 25-30 in one game and I think it's the most thrilling shot in basketball. I've seen guys shoot it from 30 feet and the crowd sits on its hands. Then somebody stuffs it and the whole place comes up."

"I'll guarantee you one thing," Lewis quipped. "I get a thrill everytime Hayes stuffs one."

Lewis appeared at the news conference with the other three coaches whose teams are shooting for the national title: Dean

Smith of North Carolina, Don Donohoe of Dayton and John Wooden of UCLA.

Lewis was asked the inevitable question if he planned to stall against the Bruins.

"No, we're not going to change what we've been doing all year," Lewis said.

But later in the interview, Lewis modified his statement. "Oh, if we're ahead 18 or 20 points with 30 or 40 seconds to go, I wouldn't say we won't stall."

Lewis described his team like this: "We've got more height than most ball clubs and we have less speed than most. And everybody knows we don't have a good outside shooting team."

"But our strength is that we have a good bench and some tall boys who can play pretty well."

"They're a very big, very good team," UCLA's Wooden said. "And they're not only tall, they have weight. We haven't faced a heavier team all year."

Turning to his own team,

Wooden said, "I'd rather bet the prohibitive favorite than the decided underdog anytime."

"I think we've been the prohibitive favorite everywhere we've been this year, so I feel we're used to it by now."

Sitting beside Wooden when he made the statement was Donohoe, whose Dayton team is the decided underdog in the tournament field. But the Flyers' coach says it's nothing new.

"Being the underdogs is nothing new to us," he said. "We were the underdogs in all three of our regional games." They defeated Western Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia Tech en route to the finals.

"There were a lot of factors that got us here," Donohoe said. "And some of it had to be luck."

"For example, when we played Western Kentucky, their fine

All-America Clem Haskins was injured. It wouldn't be fair to players to say we couldn't have beaten them with Haskins healthy. But it certainly was a factor."

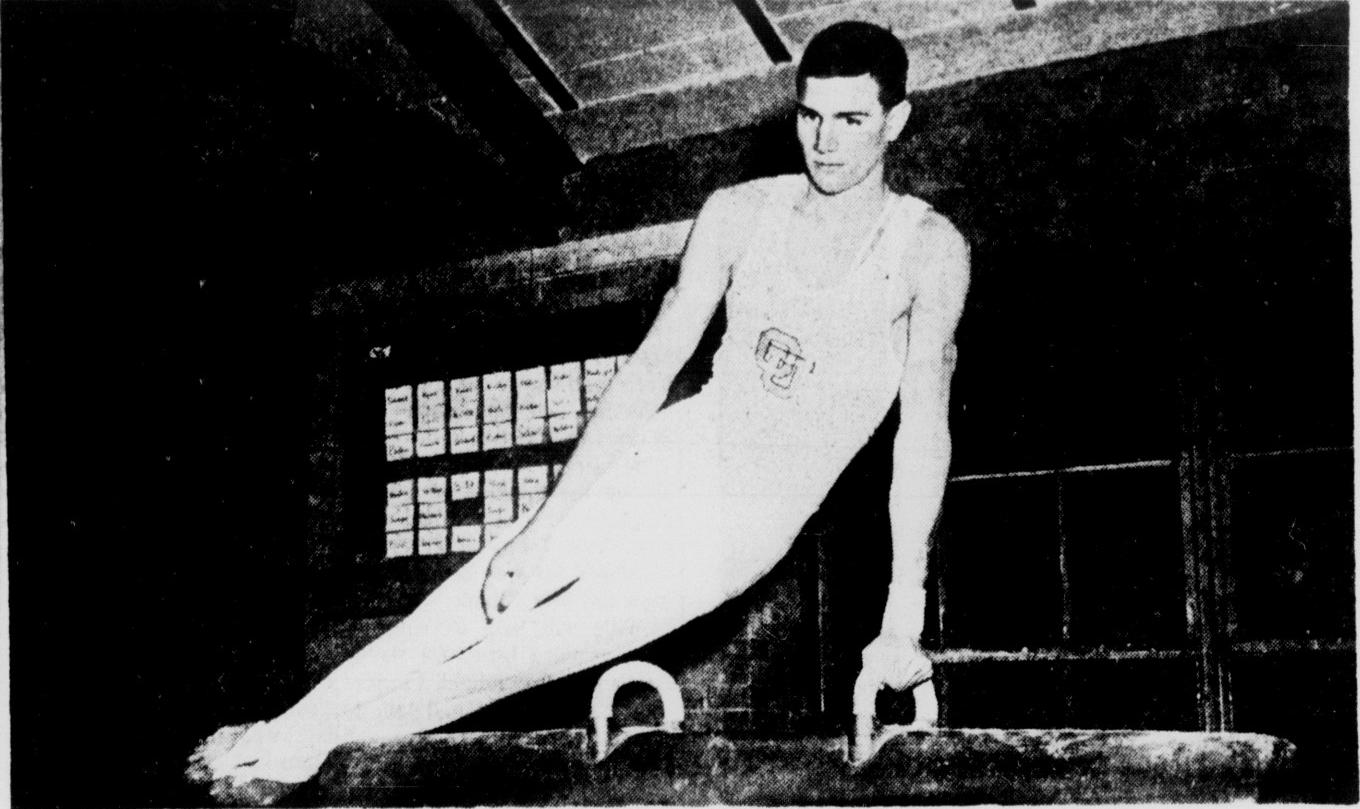

"I think everybody in the state of North Carolina thinks history repeats itself every 10 years," the Tar Heels' Smith said.

Smith referred to 1957 when North Carolina team swept to the NCAA championship by defeating Kansas and its 7-footer, Wilt Chamberlain.

"But I'm certainly not feeling that way and I hope my players aren't either," Smith said.

Canadians Impressed With Americans After 2-1 World Hockey Triumph

By MARTIN ZUCKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

VEINNA (AP)—Seth Martin, Canada's sturdy goaltender, sipped on a soft drink in the dressing room and said: "That was the toughest game the Americans played against us in five years."

Canada had just beaten the United States 2-1 Thursday night in a sizzling game at the World Ice Hockey Championships.

It took two last-period goals by Morris Mott, the youngest player on the Canadian team at 20, to beat the game Americans and keep Canada tide with favored Russia in the race for the championship.

"They played tremendous," that gave the United States a 1-0 lead at the beginning of the second period.

"I got a great pass from Martin Tschida," he said. "I didn't have to wait for it, I just had to push it past Martin who was moving nicely out of the way for me."

Falkman also had a couple of near misses in the first period and led the American attack in the thrilling match.

Terry Casey, of Great Falls, Mont., also had two close ones—both in the last period. One, with less than three minutes to play, smacked against a goal post and careened away.

Both goalies—Martin and the United States' Carl Wetzel—performed brilliantly. Martin made 25 saves and Wetzel, of Detroit, stopped 38 shots.

In Thursday's other games, the Soviets mauled West Germany 16-1, Finland upset a crack Czechoslovakian team 3-1 and Sweden whipped East Germany 8-2.

Today all teams were off. The big showdown between the Russians and Canadians—the only undefeated teams with four victories each—comes Monday.

Behind the two leaders are Marquette 8-5, Dave Porter, University of Michigan heavyweight, pinned Tom Thompson 8-4.

Semifinals will follow the quarterfinal matches Friday night, consolation matches slated for Saturday afternoon and championship finals on tap Saturday night.

A total of 345 entries from 91 schools began the tournament.

Portland State's Rich Sanders, at 115 pounds, pinned Dave Unik of Ohio University in 3:53. Mike Caruso of Lehigh, two-time winner at 123, pinned Efraim Escalante of Brigham Young in 6:49. Gene Davis of Oklahoma State, at 137, decisioned Montana State's Larry Leonard 14-47.

Ohio State's Dave Reinbold, at 167, downed Jim Schindhelm of Marquette 8-5. Dave Porter, University of Michigan heavyweight, pinned Tom Thompson 8-4.

Semifinals will follow the quarterfinal matches Friday night, consolation matches slated for Saturday afternoon and championship finals on tap Saturday night.

Detroit, Smith Strong Contenders

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — If anybody is going to beat the Baltimore Orioles this year, it could be the Detroit Tigers. Mayo Smith, returning to the managerial ranks after an eight-year lapse, can make a run for it all the way if he can straighten out his pitching staff.

Mayo hired an expert helper to work with the pitchers when he picked up Johnny Sain, who did exceptionally fine jobs with the Yankees and Minnesota Twins. A personality conflict with coach Billy Martin and Manager Sam Mele led to his shift from the Twins to the Tigers.

The Tigers' pitching was supposed to be formidable last year but Joe Sparma failed to live up to his bright promise and Bill Monbouquette, a consistent winner at Boston, could finish only two of 14 starts for Detroit.

The one big change in the Tigers this spring is the shift of shortstop Dick McAuliffe to second base. Most of the rival managers who have seen the experiment in exhibitions rave about

McAuliffe's work at the new job. However, Ray Oyler, the new shortstop, must do much better than his .171 of last year to make it stick.

The tragic loss, due to cancer, of both Manager Charley Dres-

Swift, exposed the Tigers to tremmendous emotional stress last all but two of the last 104 days.

Minnesota finally passed them on the final weekend.

Big Bubble Politics Not for Cuellar

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Judge Roy Hofheinz is trying to lure the Democrats and the Republicans to the Astrodome, but Mike Cuellar seems to be out to show that the big bubble will be no place for Houston opponents of either party if they have bats in their hands.

Hofheinz, owner of the Astros, said Thursday that he was having an office for the President built in the right-field area of the Astrodome in the hopes of inducing both parties to hold their 1968 conventions there.

Meanwhile, down in Cocoa, Fla., Cuellar was holding Philadelphia hitless for six innings and running his scoreless-inning streak to 10-1-3, while the Astros topped the Phils 3-0.

Last year, the Cuban-born left-hander's 2.2 earned-run average was second in the National League only to Sandy Koufax's.

In other exhibition games, Pittsburgh beat Cincinnati 8-2, Boston took Los Angeles 7-4, the Yankees clubbed the Mets 12-3, St. Louis turned back Minnesota 9-4, Detroit shut out Baltimore 1-0, Kansas City edged the White Sox 5-3, San Francisco took Cleveland 5-3, Atlanta beat its Richmond farm club 4-3 and California topped the Cubs 2-1.

Teaming up with Cuellar for the Astros' shutout was Claude Raymond, who allowed the Phillies their only hit of the afternoon, a single by Doug Clemens' in the eighth inning.

Willie Stargel drove in five runs with a homer and a pair of singles in the Pirates' victory. Bob Veale shut out the Reds on three hits in the five innings he worked.

Russ Gibson hit a three-run pinch homer in the Red Sox' triumph over the Dodgers. George Scott, Boston slugger, suffered a concussion when he ran into a concrete fence in right field when chasing a fly ball.

Ray Barker hit for the cycle, leading a 15-hit Yankee attack in their victory over the Mets. Charley Smith, a former Met, had three singles and a double, and Jake Gibbs had a homer.

Phil Gagliano hit two two-run doubles for St. Louis, offsetting a solo homer by Tony Oliva. Bob Gibson, who won 21 games for the Cards last season, was the winning pitcher.

Willie Horton's three-run homer and Mickey Stanley's three runs batted in led the Tigers past the Orioles. Horton now has nine RBI for the spring. Joe Sparma went nine strong innings for the Tigers.

Dave Duncan and Ossie Chavarria hit successive homers for the Athletics, who won their first game in Florida. Pete Ward hit a three-run homer for the White Sox.

Ken Henderson homered and tripled, leading the Giants past the Indians. In all, Henderson had three runs batted in. Two ninth-inning runs off Dick Radatz in the ninth sewed up the victory.

Atlanta scored twice in the first two innings and then held off Richmond. Hank Aaron doubled in a run in the first and then scored. Three singles accounted for the second-inning run. Tony Cloninger was the winner.

Three Angels' pitchers allowed the Cubs just four hits and California pushed the winning run across in the ninth on a sacrifice fly by pinch hitter Len Gabrielson.

Birds Bump Mullen in First Track Meet of '67 Season

Wasson's Thunderbirds scored 75 points in St. Mary's Quadrangular meet at Washburn Field, to lead the nearest competition, Denver Mullen, by 21½ points Thursday.

Mullen scored 57½ points to confine St. Mary's by a mere point, and Widefield's Kerry Thomas high jumped 5-10 to give the Gladiators their only first place of the meet. Widefield scored 30½ points dropping to fourth place.

Mullen Mustangs won the high hurdles, 100 yard dash, broad jump, low hurdles, 220 yard run and tied St. Mary's in the triple jump, to give them five wins and one first place tie as compared to four first place events for the Thunderbirds.

Co-captains Don Becker and Ted Benson placed first in the mile run and pole vault respectively. Dave Thomas ran the best time of 440 in 51.6 seconds for the T-Birds. Dave Williams threw the discuss 150-3, over 12 feet short of his fourth place throw in the 1966 state AAA championships, to beat out second place teammate Stewart Haydock's 142-8½ throw. Jim Burke flipped the disk 134-13, some two feet better than his previous throws. All event winning Thunderbirds in the season's first quadrangular were seniors.

In addition to a poor showing and being disqualified in the mile relay, Mullen failed to place in the shot put, pole vault, high jump, 440 yard sprint and discus.

Widefield managed only two second place positions which went to Diamond in broad jump and Senger in high hurdles.

Dave Lanoia was the outstanding athlete of the meet, placing in all four events entered, with 19 points for the Mustangs. St. Mary's Ted Peralta scored 12 points in three events and Wasson's Dave Wil- liams tallied 10 points in two accomplishments. Four Pirates events of make the best showing placed in two or more events, Peralta in three, to accumulate a total of 32 points, over half of their teams scoring, but only equal to the count racked up by the two energetic Mustangs.

Rex Miller's well coached Thunderbirds took home their dignity not by several strong men, but team coordination that netted them 22 places in 15 events.

Wasson tangles with Englewood and Arapahoe here on March 3 and St. Mary's meet the Gladiators again on April 1.

Six Stroke Lead for Quarterback

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — Hale Irwin, a quarterback on the University of Colorado football team, fired a four-under-par 67 Thursday for a gaping six-stroke lead in the New Mexico State Intercollegiate Golf Tournament.

Tied with 73 scores in second place after the first round of the 54-hole tournament were Tommy Howard of Arkansas, Les Fletcher of New Mexico State, John Darling of the University of Texas at El Paso and Roger Brown of Oklahoma State. The tournament is being played over the 7,108-yard University Park Golf Course.

New Mexico held a one-stroke lead for the team lead at 377. Arizona was second at 378, New Mexico State and Oklahoma State 380 each and Odessa, Tex. Junior College and Colorado 383 each.

Oklahoma State would have held the team lead except Grier Jones, who finished with a one-under-par 70, was disqualified for signing an improper score card. Tournament officials said that he could play in the remaining two rounds Friday and Saturday for team scores but could not compete for the individual championship.

Dave Lanoia was the outstanding athlete of the meet, placing in all four events entered, with 19 points for the Mustangs. St. Mary's Ted Peralta scored 12 points in three

Weiskopf Paired With Nicklaus Wants to Out Score, Not Out Hit

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Pensacola Country Club course Thursday to tie Blancas, the former Houston university athlete, and the 36-year-old Keller from the nearby Eglin Air Force Base, Weiskopf nailed two eagles.

"It's a thrill for me just to be paired with Jack. I think he's the greatest golfer in the world," the good-looking, 6-foot-3 slugger from Massillon, Ohio, said today. "But people are always wanting to get us together just to compare our tee shots."

Weiskopf was co-leader with Homero Blancas and home pro gets tremendous length off the Bob Keller going into the second tee. Many observers regard him round of the $75,000 Pensacola not only as golf's new power Open Golf Tournament today, and the gallery was tabbing him as the new Babe Ruth of the game.

"But, being taller, I have a longer arc. Jack throws his legs more into his drives than I do. That's where he gets his power. It's in his legs."

Weiskopf and Nicklaus were paired in the last round of the Jacksonville open last week, and much of the gallery flocked to them to watch the driving contest.

"I outdrove Jack on some holes, he outdrove me on some. I guess we were about even off the tee," Tom said, then he added proudly: "But I outscored him by a shot—that's what matters."

Weiskopf said Nicklaus doesn't drive the ball as far as he did when he was in college and an amateur. "He is steering shot a 68. Arnold Palmer and the ball more, trying more for Bill Casper aren't competing.

USC Swims to 1 Point NCAA Lead

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Defending champion Southern California was proving you didn't have to take first place to win titles in the first round of the finals of the NCA Swimming Championships Thursday night.

Southern California led after the first night with 83 points. Indiana was second with 82. Stanford third with 75 and UCLA fourth with 61.

The remainder of the team scoring: Michigan 41, Yale 35, Stanford and UCLA each won two first places in the five final events at the Michigan State pool, and Indiana broke California domination of the one-meter diving.

But Southern California won its fifth straight Wisconsin 9, Army 4, Duke and Wyoming 3, Maryland, Utah and Villanova 2, and Purdue 1.

The best effort by the Trojans was a second by Don Hansen in the 50-yard freestyle, pair of swimmers who first started competition together at Menlo High School in Atherton, Calif.

Junior Greg Buckingham won the pool with entries, however, and was given an assist by Sophomore Dick Roth took the 200-yard individual medley for Stanford. Both set new American, NCAA and NCAA meet records.

Electronic timers that clocked the swimmer to one-one hundredth of a second were used to decide the winners. The record times, however, were according to watches held by judges.

Although the electronic timer is considered more accurate, fewer than a dozen at schools across the country have one. NCAA rules still call for determination of times by three judges using stop watches.

Charles McCaffree, Michigan State coach and meet manager, said the electronic device is being used in the NCAA championships primarily to determine winners when the judges' watches may indicate.

Buckingham won the 500-yard freestyle in 4:37.16 electronically. His watch time was 4:37.0 and bettered his own former American, NCAA and NCAA meet time of 4:40.8 in the afternoon preliminaries.

Roth posted an electronic time of 1:56.09 and a watch time of 1:56.0 in winning the 200-yard individual medley. The previous best time in the event was the former American mark of 1:56.2 by Roy Saari of Southern California in 1965. Saari also held the old NCAA and NCAA meet records.

Their electronic time was 3:29.5, and the watch time of 3:29.5 bettered the former fastest in all three categories by the same swimmer in the afternoon.

Ken Sitzberger took the one-meter diving for Indiana with his high of 510.25 points. Chuck Knorr of Ohio State placed second with 477.95 points and Win Young, another Hoosier entry, was third with 460.65.

Eight Colorado College skiers have been awarded letters for the 1966-67 season, athletics director Jerry Carle announced today.

Awards were made to one senior, Hugh Dick, Portland, Ore.; three juniors, Capt. Stephen Brown of Steamboat Springs, Colo., Asahel "Ace" Bush of Portland and Philip "Wink" Davis of Concord, Maine, and four sophomores, John Hanley of Scarsdale, N.Y.; Eric Nesson of Edina, Minn.; Stephen Spickard of Mercer Island, Wash., and Lloyd Taylor of Great Falls, Mont.

The eight lettermen comprised the 1967 team. Four alternates, who also participated in events, were Fletcher Anderson, Englewood, Colo., freshman; Brad Boynton, Center Conway, N.H., freshman; David Smith, Guilford, Conn., freshman, and Carl Smith, Lake Oswego, Ore., sophomore.

Colorado College ended its season Sunday by placing first in the Central Intercollegiate Alpine League championship meet at Arapahoe Basin with 200 points. ROTC Capt. J. H. Mease is Colorado College ski coach.

Big Eight Baseball in High Gear

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

A league loaded with top pitchers and a wild five-team championship race involving Missouri, Colorado, Kansas State, Oklahoma State and Oklahoma — that's the outlook for Big Eight baseball, which moves into high gear this weekend.

"The Big Eight will be a pitchers' league this year," said Hi Simmons, starting his 28th year as Missouri coach with a doubleheader at Texas Christian next Monday.

"In general, pitching staffs in the Big Eight will be among the best in the country," said Floyd Temple, starting his 14th year at Kansas next Thursday against Texas Lutheran at San Antonio.

"It will take pitching and for us that means keeping them healthy," said Kansas State coach Bob Brasher, whose Wildcats are off to a 7-game head start. "I feel like before this group of pitchers we have is gone, we will win a Big Eight championship."

K-State split two with Murray State Thursday at Little Rock, 11-5 and 0-3, making its record 4-3.

Almost every club in the Big Eight should be improved over last year, when Oklahoma State won the crown on the last day of the season and went on to finish second in the NCAA College World Series at Omaha.

The Big Eight has had a team in the NCAA Finals eight times in the past 16 years and an excellent 63-36 won-lost record in the College World series.

Colorado swept three games with Oklahoma at the end of last season, knocking OU out of the title. Frank Prentup's 22nd Colorado team, he admits could be the finest we've had in several years."

Prentup has Taylor Toomey, 6-foot-4 lefthander who was the Big Eight's top pitcher last year in four categories.

Colorado could take it all if any pitching depth develops behind Toomey. Dan Kelly, all-Big Eight shortstop, leads a group of six veterans. Colorado opens with potent Arizona State today in Tempe.

Oklahoma State has veteran pitchers Richard Frank and Larry Burchart, plus Tony Selari, all-league catcher and .304-hitting Ron McDowell. Coach Chet Bryan says, "Attitude to me is everything. The teams are so close the team with the best attitude will win it."

Oklahoma, which lost a three-game series at Texas in early March, hopes 6-4 sophomore Ralph Rickey can become the third starter behind veterans Rusty Disbrow and Larry Patterson in a four-game series at Arizona State opening Monday. OU started six rookies at Texas, but they are big ones and Coach Jack Baer hopes his 23rd OU club will hit better than last year.

Missouri returns three seasoned pitchers led by big Mike McFarland, a deep, veteran outfield and a capable infield. Simmons admits he has depth, but wonders whether his staff has a real stopper needed to win it all.

Nebraska coach Tony Sharpe is building his 21st Husker team around league batting champ Bob Churchich, .383, Bob Brand, .321, and Alex Walter, .302 and league leader in extra base hits. His talent is green, however, and Bob Stickle is the only starting pitcher back. Nebraska opens with Rice at Houston Monday.

"We may surprise a few people," said Temple of his young Kansas team, last place a year ago but stronger in pitching this time. Junior Riggins and Dick Slicker are counted on to help the staff.

Iowa State, which opens at Arkansas State today, has veteran pitchers Scott Morton and Bob Ziegler, but lost Tim Van Galder to pro football. Captain Timm's 27th team is depending heavily on first-year men.

K-State has good pitching depth with Steve Wood, Wade Johnson when his ankle is sound, plus sophomores Van Bullock and Brad Schlesinger, both lefthanders. Brasher adds "speed should be a big asset for us."

British TV Explores World of 'Mistress'

By RICHARD M. SUDHALTER

LONDON (UPI) — Every year thousands of women become involved in affairs with married men. The results, for both parties, often are catastrophic.

Why does it happen? What is there about contemporary marriage to account for the large number of husbands — a number on the increase, from all indications — who are driven to seek haven in the arms of another woman?

A British television documentary to be shown in mid-March will attempt to find some answers by interviewing a number of "mistresses" on a nationwide network.

"Everybody has a certain image of the other woman," says Desmond Wilcox, co-editor of the British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC) Wednesday evening series "Man Alive," on which the study will appear.

"People think she's loaded with diamonds, dripping with mink, and installed in a luxurious apartment by a paramour who drives a Rolls-Royce," he said.

"The reality is different. She is lonely, insecure, claustrophobic, not well-off financially, and meets her lover in conditions of nervous secrecy."

"It's a tearful, torturing existence."

The program, as Wilcox explained it, will allow the mistresses to speak for themselves. No names will be used, but the women — all of them volunteers, all of them involved with married men — will appear before the cameras.

The woman, ages 24 to 26, represent a wide range of social and economic classes. They have only their role as mistress to a married man in common.

They will discuss, frankly and without inhibition, the circumstances which led them into their liaisons — and those which motivated the men involved to look outside the bounds of their marriages.

But Wilcox stresses that the testimonies are in no case to be

"We explore the relationship between the lover and the other woman in sexual, emotional and intellectual areas," Wilcox adds.

The program is entitled "The Other Woman."

New Fire Pumper Now in Service

The fire department's new 1,000 pumper has been placed in service at No. 4 station near St. Francis Hospital.

The old 750 gallon per minute pumper that was in No. 4's is being tuned up and will be held in reserve, probably at No. 8 station on the east side.

Meanwhile, Architect Walter Burgess is preparing plans for a new fire station on the Garden of the Gods Road, a one acre site which was given to the city by the Industrial Foundation of the Chamber of Commerce.

Somebody must've slipped Sergeant Shriver a copy of Mein Kampf. Now he wants to register all the 16 year old kids, boys and girls, into his regiment. He says that way they can be moulded. Well, he's right.

I only hope there's enough gumption left in this country to stop him from doing it. But I am beginnin to have my doubts. Why, if Shriver had been around to even suggest such a thing 50 years ago the citizens would have rode him out of town on a rail.

You don't reckon he is going to start his mouldin on the 16 year olds and quit there, do you? Why, of course not. The next step will be to take your 7 year old sons and daughters and that way he can mould them that much faster.

Of course, this ain't Shriver's idea at all. His boss, Elbee Jay is behind it. You see, there's a reason for startin' now with the kids who are 16 years of age. All you got to do is figger it out. If he can manipulate the War so he can have a peace settlement by '68 (there ain't a reason in the world why he can't) then he might cry and buy enough votes to get one more term. That's all he needs — (one more time!).

By mouldin all the kids who are 16 in this year of disaster he will have them very well regimented by 1972. How old will they be then? Why, 21, naturally, just right for votin the Elbee Jay way forever. From then on the vote would be nothin more than a regimened folly.

You think it can't happen like that? It is happenin. And do you know why? Because the people are askin for it. Did you ever see the crowds all runnin to meet the plane when one of them bureaucrats comes in to an airport? If the people had any sense at all they'd run the other way.

1957 Rape Charge Dismissed

A rape charge which went Court decisions which said that Ralston has already served back to 1957 was dismissed in a man who pled guilty could almost 10 years and he was granted a new trial which was vacated Thursday on the basis of the Gideon versus Wainwright Supreme Court decision.

The district attorney's office explained that "after diligent search the victim could not be found," and that "district court was forced to grant the defendant a new trial Feb. 24, 1967 because of recent U.S. Supreme

THE MARKSMAN WHO WANTED TO MISS

By TOM TIEDE

CU CHI, Vietnam (NEA) —

The difference between Capt. James Pierce and the rest of the soldiers in his outfit is that he wears a small white cross on his collar, the insignia of a chaplain.

But there ends his distinction. The cross gives Jim Pierce no immunities here. He is a man of God, but only a man and he often went along on the field operations.

He can be frightened. He can be weak.

And he can err.

The other day the chaplain did all three. At least he says he did. And in the span of a few desperate moments he blenched with his conscience with what he determined to be "an act of selfishness."

It happened during the opening minute of a heliborne combat assault. Pierce, 26, of Memphis, Tenn., was aboard a troop-laden aircraft which was moving into the middle of an enemy sanctuary.

Enemy gunfire erupted anew. The chaplain saw muzzle flashes from behind a thicket. A GI returned fire.

Pierce grabbed a gun. He waited.

More shots were fired. The crash victims bellied into the reeds and bramble and concentrated fire on the enemy position.

Finally the chaplain opened up himself.

It was, of course, purely an act of self-preservation. Then too, fire protected two helicopter pilots who darted across an open field toward a rescue vehicle.

Pierce aimed his rifle at the enemy powder flashes. He saw no one. He fired a number of times. He was, as everyone was, terribly afraid. He didn't want to kill, necessarily, but rather to force the enemy to break contact.

And in a few minutes the firing died away.

It ended for everyone except Jim Pierce. As a chaplain, a devout Methodist, and a theologian who has serious misgivings about war, it didn't end for him.

No one here faulted his act. Many praised it.

Yet Jim Pierce regretted it. Afterward he said he was carried away, scared, that he shot his weapon only because he thought he could help.

And surely he did help. The downed pilots made it to safety and the return fire brought enemy activity to a halt without further GI injury. But the chaplain said:

"It was wrong. I hope I didn't hit anyone."

U.S., Soviets
Don't Agree on Split Personality

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two psychiatrists report another U.S.-Soviet split — over split personality.

Drs. Hans K. von Brauchitsch and William E. Kirk of Ypsilanti, Mich., state hospital said Soviet psychiatrists maintain childhood schizophrenia, or split personality, nearly always is associated with "poor social conditions, broken homes, sociopsychological stress."

The American doctors said that in contrast, most U.S. psychiatrists along with those throughout the rest of the world believe when that mental disease occurs in childhood it's independent of the child's socioeconomic class.

They said if anything, split personality may be more prevalent among upper-class youth.

In a report to the closing session of the American Ortho-Psychiatric Association's annual meeting, von Brauchitsch offered what they called new but "preliminary" evidence to support the upper-class prevalence theory.

In describing their own observations — based on studies of 141 hospitalized children having mental illness of various types — the psychiatrists said: "Diagnosis of schizophrenia is significantly more frequent in hospitalized children from upper socioeconomic classes. The prevalence rate decreases gradually as the family's social standing decreases."

"Least frequent is schizophrenia in children from broken homes, hard-core, multiproblem families, and families with overt mental illness among the parents. Prognosis of the disease is apparently less favorable in upper classes, with a higher tendency to run a chronic, unremitting course."

Among their preliminary conclusions:

The "achievement syndrome" of the middle classes — presumably including parental stress on achievement — "may be closer linked to childhood schizophrenia than the lower class 'deprivation syndrome.'"

As for schizophrenia in adults, the Michigan scientists said most psychiatrists — including even the Soviets — are agreed that this is "frequently a disease peculiar to the poor and uneducated, the slum-dweller, the culturally disadvantaged who has no social resources to cope with environmental stress."

Niagara Falls draws about four million visitors annually.

REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

BY WALTER TROHAN

CHIEF OF CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S WASHINGTON BUREAU

WASHINGTON — President military observers see as the quickest way to end the war by bringing Communists to sue for peace.

It would seem that there is more to the Presidential trip to Guam than a conference of military and governmental leaders. The President could have summoned Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the American commander, to Washington for a strategy and manpower huddle, and he could have invited Premier Nguyen Cao Ky to such a conference.

The shift in diplomatic representation, which will replace Henry Cabot Lodge with Ellsworth Bunker, was not seen as necessitating a Presidential visit. Both men could have been summoned to Washington, if such a step were considered advisable.

The President conferred with Westmoreland on war strategy and with southeast Asia allies on unity of effort last fall. Also early in February, 1966, there was a strategy conference in Honolulu. Except for improvement in terms of communist reversals, the military situation has not changed drastically. It is possible that the political climate has changed markedly for peace, although Johnson has been most cautious about peace prospects.

In general such conferences as the trip to Guam have more drama than substance. The Manila conference of last fall is all but forgotten and the surprise Presidential visit to Saigon has faded into history.

The Manila conference ended in seven nations signing a statement, pledging continuance of military and other efforts in close consultation until aggression is ended, and a four-point declaration for peace. None of it was new or startling.

There was suspicion here that Johnson undertook the trip partly in hope of improving the political climate at home, being aware his party was facing reverses in the congressional elections. That suspicion cannot be raised in connection with the journey to Guam because the Presidential election is almost 20 months away. All can hope this journey will promote peace.

Distribution of Milk Profits Shown

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you pay 50 cents for a half gallon of milk, here is where the money goes, according to Department of Agriculture and dairy industry studies:

Farmer — 23.5 cents.

Retailer — 7.5 cents.

Wholesaler — 7.7 cents.

Processor and packager — 7.6 cents.

Procurement of milk from the farm producer — 0.2 cents.

Dealer-processor administrative expenses — 2.1 cents.

Assembling of milk at central plants for processing and distribution — 1.4 cents.

Studies indicate the 26.5 cents going to all middlemen combined is used for these purposes:

Labor — 10.5 cents.

Containers and supplies — 3.2 cents.

Buildings, equipment and other overhead — 3.3 cents.

Advertising and promotion — 1.7 cents.

Transportation — 2.4 cents.

Miscellaneous — 3.2 cents.

Profits before income taxes — 2.2 cents.

The studies also indicate that if milk worth 50 cents at retail is used for another dairy purpose such as butter, cheese, ice cream or dried milk, the farmer gets 17.7 cents.

An average of one of every six males under the age of 18 will face a juvenile court charge this year, according to the President's Message on Children and Youth.

France Plans To Boycott
SEATO Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — France's planned boycott of a Southeast Asia Treaty Organization meeting here in April is viewed as fresh evidence of the widening split between the United States and France.

But spokesmen said they don't believe France's boycott of the conference means President Charles de Gaulle intends to pull his nation out of SEATO. *

The French foreign office noted the State Department several days ago that it won't send a representative to the eight-nation parley April 18-20, it was learned Thursday night.

Informants said the French boycott could be attributed to De Gaulle's disapproval of U.S. policy in Vietnam. They said the war will be a major theme of the two-day conference, to be followed immediately by a meeting of nations contributing allied troops to the struggle.

Pakistan still intends to send delegates to the SEATO meeting, sources said, although it also opposes the war and has ties with Communist China.

The other SEATO members, in addition to the United States, France and Pakistan, are Britain, Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines and Thailand. Nations with troops in Vietnam who will send delegates to the second meeting are the United States, Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines, Thailand, South Vietnam and the Republic of Korea.
